About Infrared Heat Lamp

An infrared heat lamp is an incandescent light bulb that is used for the principal purpose of creating heat. These are also called infrared bulbs, heat lamps, halogen lamps and infrared heaters. Some heat lamps include a red filter to minimize the amount of visible light emitted while still emitting a decent level of infrared heat.

At present, these lamps are commonly used for to keep animals warm and help improving their immunity, such as young birds, swines, reptiles, amphibians, insects, arachnids, and the young of some mammals.

Infrared lamps also provide an excellent solution for localised heat treatment to provide relief from muscular pain. They can also be used to treat ailments like lumbago, neuralgia and myalgia and colds.

Sailing factory is a professional manufacturer of infrared lamps with more than 15 years production experience in this field. Our infrared lamps are designed to work in the toughest environment such as farm, bathroom or kitchen and their nearest surrounding. They have a reinforced construction thanks to hard glass use. Their compact form and universal cap base allow them to be used with any suitable equipment. A very good method of generating warmth is by using heat lamps. Our infrared heat lamps provide direct, draught-free warmth to the animals, people, but also food. These benefits have made farmers, consumers and cooks around the world choose SAILING infrared lamps, because they are the sturdiest, most efficient lamps available for these applications.
